Sorry out of touch, everything hectic. Quick rough updates below for now

- Last Friday, a group of protesters staged a march in front of EPA. Our new Regional Administrator, Mike Stoker, walked outside to greet the protestors and agreed to meet with their leaders July 12. The meeting will cover a variety of topics. The groups attending include Greenaction and Bayview Hunters Point Community Advocates.
- We have already briefed Mr. Stoker about Hunters Point and have taken him on a quick tour of Parcel A and Parcel G. He met with Congresswoman Pelosi last week 6/27, and one of the topics was Hunters Point. HQ OCIR accompanied him.

More Bayview, Hunters Point Residents Added To $27 Billion Suit Against Tetra Tech

SAN FRANCISCO (BCN) Attorneys representing 38,000 residents of San Francisco's Hunters Point and Bayview neighborhoods in a lawsuit against Tetra Tech, the firm hired by the U.S. Navy to rid the area's former shipyard of toxic waste, said today they've added more than 2,000 residents to the suit, bringing the total number of plaintiffs to more than 40,000. The lawsuit, filed in San Francisco Superior Court in May by attorney Charles Bonner, accuses Tetra Tech EC of "blatant, conscious, callous disregard of Bayview Hunters Point residents' lives, born and unborn" and "unfair and fraudulent business practices." The suit is seeking $27 billion in damages.

Calif Dept of Pub Health is doing scanning at parcel A (Residential area). They're drafting workplan, will try to finish in time to present to Home Owners Assoc mtg Thurs 7/5, put on web 7/6. Tentatively hoping to start field work 7/16.

Parcel G workplan released for public comment 60 days 6/15. EPA sent comments to Navy 3/26 (which have been made public in response to Greenaction FOIA request) that must excavate 33% of trenches as 1st step. If find a single instance of exceedance of Remedial Goal + Background, then must excavate 100%. The Navy 6/15 draft workplan is silent on what happens if find exceedance. It just says risk assessment will be done and further discussion will be needed. This is not what EPA recommended.
